

Hello (hiring managers name),

My name is James Brechtel, I recently had an interview with you regarding the Software Developer position available. I just want to follow up with you regarding the interview and thank you for taking the time to meet with me. I had a great time discussing about the company and my future role within it and look forward to your reply. I am eager to get started and thankful for the opportunity to prove so to you and your team at General Motors.

Thank you again,

James Brechtel
